

Journal of Research Process
(To Accompany Research Paper)

1. After selecting a topic and determining your research requirements, describe how you determined what information you need, and the search terms you will use to locate information on your topic.

2. After you begin gathering information, describe how you evaluated the information you found and selected or rejected its' use. (Did you consider cost, availability, timeliness and/or the appropriateness of the information for your particular research?)

3. After you gather information and begin writing your paper, how do you now think differently about your task? What new strategies do you think you will pursue?

4. After completing your research paper, reflecting back on the whole process, what did you learn about information research? Is there anything you will do differently the next time you research a topic?
