

Dean's Report
Library Advisory Council
James E. Brooks Library

June 4, 2019

Prepared by: Rebecca Lubas

It's been an eventful year at the CWU Libraries! As you can see from the numbers below, we had a lot of exciting and engaging programs at Brooks. The new Student Commons became the site of many of our events, attracting a new energy to the second floor. It's been wonderful to see the students filling the Commons in the evenings and on the weekends especially. We continue to add to the Commons – the new chairs just arrived this week!

We have added rich content to our collections via electronic backfiles of journals and digitized primary resources. Please browse the titles below; hopefully you will find resources useful to your discipline.

The librarians have been engaged in the new General Education curriculum and have begun leading an effort to support more courses with open access content.

Library Services at the Centers is vital. In addition to their critical daily support to student success, the Centers supported SOURCE participation, helping students with research and presentation skills. I visited the Lynnwood Center in May and plan to visit the Des Moines Center soon.

We are in a great place to begin a new strategic plan to make the most of our resources for student and faculty success.
