Assistant Professor - First-Year and Transfer Experience Librarian
Central Washington University
Ellensburg, WA

The First Year and Transfer Experience Librarian will engage in library instruction and strategic initiatives that support integrative teaching and learning in the first-year for traditional and transfer students. This position will work closely with colleagues in developing, updating, coordinating, delivering, and assessing lower-division instruction and programming efforts for new students. Collaborating with colleagues in and outside the library, the person in this position will demonstrate excellent public service through partnerships, research consultations, and programming efforts. The FYTE Librarian will work in-person, online, and in blended formats to deliver content.

Located near the Cascade Mountain range in Ellensburg WA, Central Washington University is a dynamic institution of around 12,000 students. Beginning as a Normal School in 1891, CWU places the highest priory on teaching, learning, and student success, and is among the top two schools in the state for attracting transfer students. CWU ranks among the top 50 LGBTQ+-friendly universities and serves a population of students where 40% are from traditionally underrepresented student groups. The CWU Libraries is a key collaborator on campus, and recently received a National Endowment for the Humanities Cares Grants in partnership with the College of Arts and Humanities, as well as a state grant for increasing Open Educational Resources in the campus curriculum. Join a dedicated library team interested in providing services to the whole student; collaborating to create and extend an atmosphere of inclusivity and diversity; and partnering in transformative teaching, learning, and research at CWU Libraries.
